

Abstract of the Disclosure

In general, the invention provides methods and compositions useful in the treatment of a neoplasia. These compositions include new components of the Rb 5 pathway that function in chromatin remodeling and antagonize Ras signaling.